College Students Are More Than "Chips" of Radio Listeners

The first meeting of "The Dribblers" will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Union. Started by Dr. A.C. Lambert of the psychology department, the group will have radio programs and will feature musical entertainment throughout the United States. The group will also have the opportunity to listen to various programs on the air.

The group or group, depending on the program, will be on hand for student listening, especially for the first student to listen to the program. The group will be composed of the student-faculty association, the student-faculty committee, and the student-faculty department.

Let's Advertise Idaho

The university of Idaho needs advertising. No matter how good the school, how brilliant the faculty, or how loyal the students, the school cannot maintain its position without some advertising. In the Northwest, Idaho is one of the smaller universities. Enough advertising to make it prominent to prospective students is necessary.

We admit, however, that Idaho is a small school and cannot expect to compete in popularity with its contemporaries, but we are much better off than we were a few years ago. We have a much better chance of securing the interest of the public if we can advertise intelligently. It is not necessary to advertise in every newspaper, but it is necessary to advertise in the important ones.

There are several ways of doing this—by placing notices in the Idaho Statesman, the Spokesman Review, and the Daily Baccalaureate. These papers are the ones which will attract the most attention. It is not necessary to advertise in every college paper, but it is necessary to advertise in the ones which have the greatest circulation.

The university of Idaho needs advertising. We are not asking for free advertising, but for a reasonable amount of money. We are sure that the university will be able to pay for advertising if it is done intelligently.

We believe that Idaho is a splendid university, and we are confident that it will be able to attract the students who will make it famous. We ask you to help us by advertising for Idaho.

Women Fashions Return Again to Day of Gibson Girl

What with the moon bending forth from among the stars and the "gibson girl"- like strands or "tinsel," the second edition of the Gibson Girl Fashions is far from being a disappointment. Its latest pageant, a quite short but highly attractive one, which has a tendency to script this season's fashions, is very well received by the audience in Madison Square Garden.

In other words, it is a situation that2 exists for a time, as far as the audience is concerned, that is, a situation that is not very advantageous for the "Gibson Girls." This is because, in the first place, there is no one near enough to see them, and in the second place, there is no one with a sufficiently short and well-combed hair to make them look like the "Gibson Girl." However, these "Gibson Girls" are probably busier than ever during the season, and they are sure to have a very good time.

Along Frontier Row

Miss Betty Ash, Beans, and Miss Betty McCallum have returned for the opening of the season at the Frontier Row.

Miss McCallum is a new addition to the group, and she is quite a sight to behold. Her hair is brown, and she is wearing a long, dark blue gown with a large, white collar. She is very pretty, and she is sure to make a hit with the crowd.
