Idaho, 22—Gonzaga, O.

Very Spirited Game.

Gonzaga Has Well-Coached Team and Shows Great Skill. New Men On Varsity Line-Up Show Up Well.

In the spirited football game last Saturday between Idaho and Gonzaga, Idaho managed to make one touchdown, each quarter and Bill Hill's strategic play奏ed out of attempts. He had a bad wind against him, but he moved on every one. Gonzaga can very close to scoring in the third quarter when they managed to get the ball to Idaho's five yard line through several cleverly executed forward passes and one good end run. Gonzaga made three down kicks, with five yards to go and made but a yard and a half; the ball went over to Idaho and Roark pulled off one of his best punts—the day and put the Idaho team out of danger.

Gonzaga has a well coached team and shows great skill with the present forward pass. That pass probably did not average over ten yards, but they pulled off about fifteen of them, only having three of them blocked. Idaho, right end for Gonzaga, put up the best game for the visitors, blocking play after play for Idaho.

Groninger, linebacker, and McVittie, also played good ball for Gonzaga.

For Idaho Enoch Perkins played the best game, although he had a little bit harder playing under two punts. Perkins is Idaho's best open field runner, and is showing up near as well as Thornton did last year. Hillman, Buffington, Krason and Burns also put up a good quality of football. Hillman got off well at end but was only in the game five minutes before he turned his ankle. He will, however, be in the game in two or three weeks.

It was evident that Coach Griff. Blood was smoothing many of his players, not wishing to expose his hand before the big game with W. S. C. this week.

The crowd was absolutely rock. Not more than a hundred were in the bleachers. The day was not the best for a football game but there should have been more than twenty-five as many people present as there were.

Y. M. C. A. Handbook is Out.

Last Friday the annual handbook of the Y. M. C. A. was received from its publication in Columbus, Ohio. The book is about 25 x 5 inches in size, is bound in red leather. The front cover is designed with a simple block "Y.M.C.A." across which "1912" is written. It contains eighty pages of matter, all of which is calculated to fill some need experienced at some time during the year by every student. Among its features are: The Constitution of the A. S. U. L. Idaho songs and yells, football schedule for this season, track records for the world, all-northwest, amateur, and Idaho track teams, the university regulations and many other features adapted to the wants of students. Four hundred copies have been ordered and it is the intention to distribute one to each of the students of the university. See that you get one.

Many Students From Other Colleges and Universities Register at Idaho.

The following interesting features of the registration for this semester have been found in the Dean's office. To date the following students, have entered the university from other universities and colleges:

C. Rollin Buffalo, Iowa State college; Walter A. Boehm, Kansas Agricultural college; Maggie E. Lucas, U. of Utah Agricultural college; Harriett M. Fairbanks, University of Iowa; Maud M. Gregory, University of Montana; Earl E. Humphries, Ottawa college, Montana; John G. Eiser, Kansas Agricultural college; Clifford L. Moore, Arthur, Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college; Fred B. Smart, Missouri Agricultural college; Charles L. Shaw, University of Iowa.

The following students, who were formerly registered in the university, but absent last year, have reentered the University so far this fall:

Sophomore's Have Party.

The Sophomore class gave its first class entertainment this year in Ridenbaugh Hall last Saturday evening. Games, dancing and refreshments made the evening enjoyable, while the class spirit that makes such an affair one of the brightest social events of the year was always in evidence. Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Taylor acted as principals in the entertainment. Mascot was a rat made by Miss Van Hoven on the piano and Mr. Thos. Doyle on the violin. The party broke up near midnight.

Lieutenant Collier called a meeting of the University Monday to make arrangements for the construction of a target range in the drill hall.

THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA in its jubilee year celebrates its silver jubilee, and it has an enrollment of over five hundred. A course in dancing as part of the liberal arts instruction is now offered to the women of Washington University by a dancer who is not the classical folk dances of Greece or Norse mythology but the "real, dreamy waltz and the swinging two-step." Idaho and Washington commemorate the life and deeds of Christopher Columbus this year for the first time by making the twelfth of October a legal holiday. The University of Iowa is to have a "Student Union" building. The funds have been received from the State Board of Education. The main features are a large dining room, reading and writing rooms and places where the men can spend their time. The purpose is to make a higher quality in student citizenship and to preserve the traditions of personal culture inherited from the English Universities.

The National Guard company has recently been organized at the University of Washington.

The Cornell football squad has the distinction of being the first to pose and perform for moving pictures. The Lyman H. Howe Company made a series of films recently showing football practice and other phases of college life.

Co-eds at Williams have been forbidden to root at games or take part in enthusiasm meetings before the games. The students of the college declare that a blow has been dealt at college spirit.

The University of Washington will celebrate its fiftieth birthday early in November.

What will Mr. Crane of Chicago have to say about this? Of the Seniors at Yale, two-fifths are not smoke and a larger proportion do not drink intoxicants.

Anyone who intends adding to, or subtracting from, his course should get busy, as this is the last week that "change-in study blanks" will be issued.

SOME OF FRIDAY'S PLAYERS

This is Captain Hillman's third year on the team. He is better than ever at plugging through the line and also doing well in practice with his place kicks.

Bullding is playing his first year on the Varsity eleven, although he has made his "1" in the backfield for the past two years. At tackle he opens up big holes for the backfield men, and also carries the ball well in the "tackle round" plays.

Brock Phillips, the Lewiston high school boy, is one of the heaviest and strongest men on the team. He is fast and shifty on his feet and has considerable backing ability.

Care has been working at end position is developing into a fast back player.

Knutson, who subbed at halfback last year, is showing up remarkably well this year at half. He is considered the hardest worker on the team. We expect great things of "Knut" this year.

Bruns at half is another fresh boy who is showing up well in all departments of the game. He is fast and shifty on his feet and has considerable backing ability.

Care who has been working at end position is developing into a fast back player.

Farnam subbed at end last year and showed up well in several intercollegiate games. He has been sick this fall and received several injuries in wrestling which have kept him out of the practice games. If he is able to get into condition he should do good work on the eleven this year and be depended upon to receive forward passes which are thrown anywhere near him.

"One, Two, Three, Four; Sometimes I wish there were more."

The memories of these four college years will be of unfold value to you when you are through with college life.

Boola Song—Adapted for Idaho.

At the request of the Argonaut, the Boola Song as it has been floating about in the minds of Idaho students was set down in words by Mr. Harry Bond, '12. As the air is very familiar to all Idaho students, the complete song, instead of merely the chorus, should be learned.

Well here we are, well here we are,
Just watch us rolling up the score,
We'll leave those fellows behind so far,
That they won't want to play us any more.

We've got our faith in Idaho,
So now you watch us go;
Boola boo la boo, boola boo la boo,
Boola boo, boola boo, boola boo
Chorus.

Boola boo la, boola boo la,
Boola boo la, boola boo la,
And we'll rough-house old Pullman,
Till she holliers, boola boo!

Woo! Woo! woo! woo! woo! woo!
Holl monkey, university,
And we'll rough-house old Pullman,
Till she holliers, boola boo.

Now isn't it a shame, now isn't it a shame
To do those fellows up so bad;
We've done it before, we can do it once more.
Although they will feel very sad;
We'll roll up the score so very high,
That you will hear them sigh,
Boola boo la boo, boola boo la boo,
Boola boo, boola boo, boola boo la.

Departures from the old way in things educational come in for hard times, first and last, but not often are they as detailed in this letter which a glowing boy handed to his teacher the other day—

"Madam, you keep telling my son to breed with his distemper I expose rich boys and girls all the diseases but how about when their father only makes 2 dollars a day and there's 4 younger I tell you its enough to make everybody socialist first its one thing and then its another and now its distemps its to much."

Coach W. G. Griffith

Never Tried Them.

"Did you ever try any of my biscuits, Duster?" asked the proud young housewife.

"No," replied his honor absently, "I never did. But I dare say that they deserve it."

Capt. Wil "Wes" Coyle.

by FRED A. WOELFLIN

Special Correspondent for the Argus at the University of Washington.

When the University of Washington and Pacific Sound college meet at the band \textsuperscript{9}20 on Friday, October \textsuperscript{26}, there will be a great deal of interest in the Pacific Sound college at Portland, which opens this fall, and with the University of Idaho at Spokan. The prospects for the Puget Sound college are far from good, but at the same time there is nothing to be especially buoyant about this year. pap's time has been greatly inspired by the loss of three star players—Max Badkin, Polly Gwin and George Swartz. The place incurred however the instability of Grims and Badkin will remain until for some time as nothing has been loomed up to show anything like these men.

The feature of Washington's team this year will be her back field. With William "Wes" Coyle at the helm, the team is working unusually smoothly, Walt, Munc, Keil and Sparger are the mainstays of the team. They are fast, bold and aggressive. Mixlestone, who was the '98 captain of the varsity, has displayed his ability to come back and is a faster and better man than two years ago.

Warren Grims and Peter Mason at end are in this year's form, and with the forward pass, they should set things at a lively pace this year, as they did last. There is a great deal of kickers at Washington this year, Jack Patton looks like the only man for the place in this time. There is no showing anything like the class which Enkis has assembled for the last three years.

Washington is particularly favored this year by a favorable schedule. She plays in the largest cities in the northwest in all games. With the University of Idaho at Spokan, with Oregon at Portland and with Washington state college and Oregon Agricul- tral college at Seattle. She is not crowded into a narrow space of time in which to run off her season.

WITH O. A. C.

by GLOVER CARROLL

Special Correspondent for the Argus at the University of O. A. C.

With the largest registration in the history of this institution the work is now in full progress. The work of finishing the new buildings is being pushed rapidly as possible in order that ample room may be given for various lines of instruction.

The new cadets are buckling down to work and all are assigned to the various companies where the instruction in the schools of the soldier and company is being given.

The varsity is working with vigor and has profited to a great extent by the close defeat at the hands of the Sooners. The new men are showing fine form and with the return of "Coaty" Edgerburgh the hearts of enthusiasts are greatly gladdened. Everyone looks forward with pleasure to the first game with an outside team and a fine showing is fully expected.

SELECT your fall and winter knit underwear carefully. Make sure that it possesses comfort—warmth—wear. It's doubly certain that it will fit your body smoothly—particularly without bulk.

ATHENA UNDERWEAR

For Women, Misses and Children

Is made in firmly knitted elastic fabrics that do away with wrinkles under the corset—a great cause of discomfort in the ordinary underwear.

Athena underwear fits the figure with the smoothness of a silk stocking. It insures comfort without bulk—daintiness with wearability.

Here are some of its special merits:

1. A potential test that gives extra room where room is most needed. A special stay that prevents the garment from slipping over the shoulder. An elastic cut that holds the sleeve in place and keeps it from slipping up on hands. Tinning put on in an improved way, giving exquisite daintiness that is not lessened by washing.

In all shapes and fabrics at the price you usually pay. Try Athena for the children. A perfect fit for all ages—from two to sixteen years.

An Alumnus Talks to Miners.

On Friday afternoon in the lecture room of the Metallurgical building, George A. Snow, an alumnus of the University of Michigan, class of '01, and an old football hero, delivered a very interesting talk on mining, to junior and senior miners. Mr. Snow's talk appeared to a great number of experiments which had been carried on under his supervision at the mining mill at Michigan, and which covered a period of two years up to the present time. The object of these experiments is to determine the best methods for treating a lead-zinc refractory ore.

In the course of his talk Mr. Snow pointed out the large field that is still open to the technical man, especially the mining engineer, in the matter of concentration and the most efficient and economical methods of handling refractory ores, referring to some of the Court d'Alene ores as a type.

It is the intention of the Associated Miners to secure as large a number of mining men to address them at intervals throughout the year as is possible.

On account of the thoughtlessness of some Sophomores and Seniors, the class scrap at Grinnell College was a disappointment to everybody. The Freshmen went in a barn about three miles south of Grinnell, with all of the doors and approaches barricaded. The Sophomores had attached them with no success, so they changed their course. Some dozen miners were sent to the chemistry laboratory to obtain a supply of bromine. The Sophs then climbed to the peak of the barn and threw the bromine in on the Freshmen. It took effect immediately and some of the Freshmen were overcome. Unaccountably, with the effects of bromine, the Freshmen waited for the gas to pass away. Instead, the air became worse and, gasping for breath, the Sophs kicked open a window and jumped to the ground. Several of the men were badly burned. The Sophs attempted to tie the Freshmen but the Freshmen were so weak that they could not resist. The Sophs, realizing the state of affairs, took steps to the relief of their sufferers. Only one judge was present and, as soon as the Sophs declared the scrap off, Snow commented:

"To date there are 392 members in the university battalion. After next Monday's back, Cadets expect fifty more coming to the society beginning in the Practical School of Agriculture."

KANSAS POETRY.
The drought in Kansas is responsible for the following poetical effusions clipped from the Moline (Kansas) Review and handed to us by Dr. W. A. Adair:

Twinkle, twinkle, little spud,
As among the clouds you stand;
You are doing your feeling as you
Chasing round the milky way.
You have reached to such a height
You are surely out of sight,
Like a diamond you seem,
In your pride and that's no dream.

Twinkle on another spud,
But you'll drive us all to drink
As we class for needed drink
You are asking in the sky.
As you wink your shriveled eye,
Up there somewhere in the sky,
Little potato, on my word,
As a flyer you're a bird.

Spud so mighty, though so small,
You made diggers of us all.
Farmers dig you with a hoe,
While we have to dig for dough.
If you know on I'll be bound
You'll bring bollion pound for pound.

You'll fulfill the adage old
That you're worth your weight in gold.

Tuber, since the coop you few,
We have only longed for you;
That our freckles you forsook,
Broke our heart and pocketbook.
Never felt how we could love,
Till you left and went above;
Never felt how much you were
Till we paid tour dollars ger.

Small potato, please come back;
In our lives there's such a lack,
For your presence is so fine
That our stomachs hit our spine.
We are tired of eating greens,
Green paper, green paper and beans;
'Tis for you alone we yearn;
Darling 'later, please return.

A Bad Hummer.
The editor of a little Western paper was in the habit of cheered up his subscribers daily with a column of short pertinent comments on their town, their habits, and themselves. The department on account of its intimate personal flavor was the most popular thing in the paper.

The editor, as he saw it growing in favor, gradually allowed himself a wider and wider latitude in his remarks, until the town paid much of its time contemplating "what he'd dun to my next."

On a hot day, when a simmon who did gimp out of the streets of the town, deglazing everywhere its burden of sand, the editor brought forth this gem of thought:

"All the windows along Main street need washing badly."

The next morning he was written on by a placard of indignant citizens who confronted him with the paragraph in question fresh from the hands of the compositor and informed him fercely that he had gone too far. After a hasty and horrified glance he admitted that he had.

It now read:

"All the widows along Main street need washing badly."

Misses Gretchen Zumbro and Margaret Steile were up from Brooklyn for the week end.
